Pyramid of Gizeh at Sunset. The hugh bulk of the Great Pyramids, jagged-edges sharply defined against the evening sky, their time-worn stones turned rosy by the setting sun. This is the right royal tomb of Cheops and was built of limestone quarried from beyond the river. It stands 450 feet high, 20 feet higher than St. Peter's at Rome, 80 feet higher than St. Paul's in London.
